

Practical AI for businesses that already work.

THE BUSINESS

Steadyhand AI Consulting helps established businesses adopt AI without the hype cycle. We start with discovery — how the business actually runs — then design and implement automations, AI-assisted workflows, and internal tools that pay for themselves in saved hours. Built for operators in logistics, services, and other real-economy industries, not startups chasing demos.

WHY IT WINS

Discovery before tools

Every engagement starts with a working session on your operations — the tech is chosen to fit the business, never the reverse.

Implementation, not slideware

We build and ship the workflows: document automation, customer response, reporting, and internal copilots.

Measured in hours saved

Success is defined up front in operational terms — time recovered, errors reduced, throughput gained.
